

THE NORTH CAROLINA STATE GRANGE

NC State Grange is excited to announce a 3rd year of grant funding to assist North Carolina landowners in protecting their farm and forest lands. North Carolina continues with the unfortunate title as the second-ranked state in the nation, behind Texas, for the threat of conversion to development, as noted in the American Farmland Trust's study, Farms Under Threat: The State of the States even though it is only 30th in total agricultural acreage. The American Farmland Trust 2020 Report pinpointed that 732,000 acres of agricultural land were converted to other uses from 2001 to 2016. Seven eight percent (571,700 acres) of the acreage were changed to scattered, large-lot housing developments which ranked as also as the highest conversion rate percentage in the United States.

NC State Grange is committed to partnering with our state's counties and non-profit organizations by providing conservation grants for Voluntary Agricultural District signage for enrolled landowners and agricultural conservation easement establishment expenditures on privately owned farms and ranches. Local county VAD administrators may apply on behalf of their county VAD members for $4,500 which may be used to purchase signage recognizing a land parcel's VAD designation. Land Trusts and County Soil & Water Districts or county preservation departments may also apply for $3,000 on each private landowner project they represent that is currently under the process of establishing an agricultural conservation easement.

Eligibility for VAD Grants:

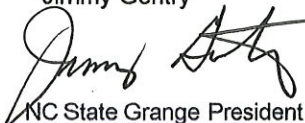

- Grant applicants must be a County Government agency with an active VAD program.
- The VAD landowner receiving signage using NC State Grange funding must be or become a NC State Grange Member.
- The VAD program must meet the NCGS 106-737 requirements.
- If a grant applicant has an existing open VAD grant, the applicant must provide reasoning for the need for additional grant funding.

Eligibility for Agricultural Conservation Easement Grants:

- Grant applicants must be a registered North Carolina non-profit conservation organization or a County Government agency with the ability to hold an agricultural conservation easement. Grant applicants may have multiple applications.
- Landowner(s) seeking a conservation easement must be or become a NC State Grange Member.
- A formal agreement between the landowner and entity to hold the conservation easement (NC Soil & Water District and NC Land Trust) must be in place and a copy provided with the application request. Applicants are limited to one grant per formal land easement project.
- North Carolina non-profit conservation organization or a County Government agency must provide proof of application to NCDA&CSADFPF or USDA NRCS ALE for conservation easement grant funding.
- Land parcels seeking an agricultural conservation easement must have proven documentation of food and / Or fiber production (crops, nursery, poultry, livestock, aquaculture, forestry, etc.) as described in NCGS 106-581.1. Agriculture defined.
